so he'll massage his own cock until it gets hard enough again because he is so drained already that only he can provide just the right amount of feedback to get himself hard again

that's one flaw in your thinking, "leaving a dead body for the da to prosecute you for"; responsible for determining and communicating work schedules, resources for various call queues